

NaaS Technology Inc. Joins China ESG Alliance as the First Member in EV Charging Service Sector

BEIJING, Oct. 2, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- NaaS Technology Inc. (Nasdaq: NAAS) ("NaaS" or the "Company"), the first U.S. listed EV charging service company in China, today announced that it has joined the China ESG Alliance as the first member from China's electric vehicle charging sector. This strategic move highlights NaaS's dedication to advancing sustainable practices and enhancing green, low-carbon initiatives across the industry.

"Joining the China ESG Alliance is a pivotal step for NaaS as we continue to drive sustainable practices across our entire operation," stated Ms. Yang Wang, Chief Executive Officer of NaaS. "Our comprehensive GREEN strategy - encompassing Governance, Reinvention, Eco-consciousness, Empathy, and Nurture - guides our commitment to low-carbon operations and strengthens our market leadership in sustainable energy asset operations and management."

The induction of NaaS, as a charging platform that connects driver users to charging infrastructure, into the China ESG Alliance is a significant milestone in the Company's journey toward becoming a sustainability leader in the EV charging industry. Joining esteemed companies such as Microsoft, Lenovo, HONOR, Tencent, LONGi Green Energy, and SF Express, NaaS brings a unique contribution to the alliance's mission of advancing responsible climate technology solutions. This membership not only underscores NaaS's commitment to environmental stewardship but also positions the Company to extend these best practices across Asia, enhancing its credibility and market position as a sustainable investment choice in the global new energy sector.
